WASHINGTON, July 2.—Denials from Oyster Bay on behalf of the President and from the Navy Department through Acting

Secretary Newberry seem to set at rest

the sensational stories that the Government has determined to transfer its battle-

As was pointed out in a Washington despatch printed in THE SUN to-day, these eports arose through a belated revival of the idea which the naval authorities have had in mind for many years that the proper distribution of the fleet should contemplate a battleship squadron in the Atlantic and another battleship squadron in the Pacific. That theory was accepted long pefore there was even a murmur of trouble between the United States and Japan.

As the battleship fleet has grown the idea has gained strength, but there are not nearly enough armorclads in the naval ervice to carry out the contemplated plan.

It is now apparent, in view of what was aid at Oyster Bay and the Navy Depart-intention of transferring its Atlantic fleet to the waters of the Pacific. This means that while a Pacific fleet will ultimately become a certainty, the plan for its formation will be carried out along the conservative lines originally laid down. Many years most elapse before there are enough battleships to form the proposed Pacific division.

Back in 1905, when Rear Admiral George

. Converse was chief of the Bureau of Navigation, he advocated in his annual report the amalgamation of several Ameri-

an squadrons into two fleets, one in the Atlantic and the other in the Pacific. This was in line with the then settled policy of the Navy Department, originated by Admiral Converse's predecessor, the late

Rear Admiral Henry C Taylor, to keep the vessels of the navy in large formation instead of having them work as individual units or in small divisions. The idea of having a battleship division in the Pacific was the logical outcome of the plans then formed and not of any uneasiness over the relations between Japan and this Govern-

TRUST COMPANIES CAN'T JOIN

JUSTICE BLANCHARD ENJOINS PROPOSED MERGER.

Equitable and Mercantile Companies Restrained, at Least Until Fall-Charles W. Morse as an Equitable Life Stockholder Begins Suit for Same Purpose.

Supreme Court Justice Blanchard granted resterday the application of Bainbridge Colby for an injunction pending trial restraining the Equitable Trust Company and the Mercantile Trust Company from taking any further steps toward completing a proposed merger. Colby applied for the injunction as a stockholder of the Equitable Trust Company.

Coincident with the decision of Justice Blanchard, Thomas D. Adams, as counsel for Charles W. Morse and others on behalf of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, obtained an order from Justice Platzek directing the Equitable Life, the Equitable Trust Company and the Mercantile Trust Company to show cause why they should not be restrained from taking any further steps in the merger of the two trust companies and restraining the Equitable Life from voting at any meeting of the stockholders in favor of approving the agreemeat. The order, which was obtained before noon, was made returnable at o'clock in the afternoon before Justice Dayton in Special Term, Part I., Supreme

When the case came up it was agree by consent of counsel that an adjournment be taken to the August term of the court. It was said that the ruling of Justice Blanchard would necessarily be followed, but that counsel for Morse and the Equitable Life had some new points to raise. The proposed merger will be held up at least

Louis Marshall, of the firm of Guggenheimer, Untermyer & Marshall, appeared as one of the counsel for Mr. Morse. He trgued that the Equitable Life Assurance Society had no power to consent to the merger, as it would mean an investment of its funds contrary to the provisions of the amended insurance laws of last year. This section, Mr. Marshall stated, prohibits en insurance company from investing n stocks or bends of any corporation other than a municipal corporation. The merger, he said, would constitute the organization of a new corporation.

Mr. Marshall said that he would also contend that the statutes of New York do not empower these two trust companies to consolidate, as they were not organized under the banking law and were not corporations organized under any special act of the Legislature within the meaning of the section of the banking law covering we shall argue the questions on the hearing of the motion to continue our temporary injunction," said Mr. Marshall, "in order that we may get our record in troper shape to go to the Appellate Division. I expect both our appeal and that of the trust companies in the Colby case will be submitted contemporare could to be submitted contemporaneously to Appellate Division. Our injunction remain in force until a decision has been rendered on our application to con-tinue the injunction pending the trial of

In granting the injunction on the Colby application Justice Blanchard said: The plaintiff and his fellow stockholders are promised no more than their investment has earned while in their own control and that promise is made payable in earnings based upon expectations rather than upon experience. The consideration of this exchange of earnings, based upon past per-formances for an equal amount of earnings, s based only upon future contingencies. The stockholders of the Equitable Trust Company are further asked to give over the complete control which they now exercise over their evestment to a new corporation in which they will be in hopeless minority, outnum-tered two to one. It is not difficult for the erceive that the latter end of stockholders of the Equitable Trust Company may in such event be worse than their present condition.

Justice Blanchard further savs that both companies are virtually controlled by the Equitable Life, a single shareholder and that unless the status quo be preserved the relief desired by the plaintiff and which he may prove himself entitled to at the trial would be lost by reason of the merger and the extinction of the Equitable Trust Company.

PERU EARTHQUAKE RUMOR Down Stocks in London-Cable

Working but No News. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, July 2.—There were persistent rumors in the stock market to-day that s disastrous earthquake, worse than that at Kingston, had occurred in Peru.

The rumor caused a depression in the price of Peruvian securities and aroused considerable anxiety. No confirmation of the rumor was obtainable.

All the cables were working The uneasiness extended to Mexico. Mexican railroad securities fell. There were ominous predictions of probable sales by insurance companies to meet their liabilities, but, curiously, insurance shares remained firm. The anxiety also affected the Berlin and Hamburg bourses. The British and European seismographs all recorded the disturbance, but it has not yet been located.

VIOLA BOYLAN'S MURDERERS

YOUNG MAN TRIES A SIMILAR CRIME ON UPPER EAST SIDE.

Little Susie Clark Rescued From Him in Tenement Cellar Where He Was Choking Her-He Got Away, but Left a Discarded Hat, Wearing a New Straw.

Susie Clark, nine-year-old daughter of Thomas Clark, a motorman, played a while with her sister, Annie, in front of their home at 1684 Avenue A. about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Presently Annie was called in and a tall young man wearing a new straw hat and carrying a wrapped up black derby came along and offered Susie some candy.

The promise of more candy got the little girl to go with the man through Eightyninth street to First avenue. At 1712 First avenue he dodged with her into the hallway and through the open front door Henrietta Platner, looking down from the third floor, saw him pick the girl up and hurry through the door leading to the cellar

Getting down as fast as she could, Mrs. Platner came upon the child screaming on the cellar floor with the man's hands at her throat. He turned upon the woman, who retreated up the stairs and got the janitress Mrs. Marie Wachendorf. The two women were badly frightened, but they were preparing to descend when the man in the cellar dashed up and past them, slammed the cellar door after him and ran up First

Beyond a bruised throat and a scratch or her face Susie Clark was not harmed. While the two women were crying over her she sprang up and ran home. Later she was hysterical and was afraid to go to bed, so her parents took her out to East River Park for most of the night.

The man was black haired, clean shaven, about 26 years old, weight 170 pounds, height about 5 feet 10. Neighbors think they saw him hanging about the street a good part of the day. In the cellar on First avenue was found the derby hat which he had evidently just had done up in paper after buying the straw. The police think they may be able to trace him by inquiry among hat dealers in the neighborhood and it may turn out that he is the man who murdered Viola Boylan, 9 years old, in the cellar at 2290 Second avenue, last Wednes-

THE BALEFUL STRAWBERRY! Suikiness, Rash and Headache Caused by It -Safety Limit Twelve.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN LONDON, July 2.-Hygienists who deligh: in raising alarms against popular foods, are now tilting against strawberries. These are accused of having a bad effect upon the tempers of their eaters, who, it is alleged become sulky and irritable after eating them

A hygienist is quoted as saving that ladies are particularly susceptible in this respect. Some of them will eat a pound or more of strawberries at a time and then become so morose that people are glad to avoid them.

The fact is they are physically ill without knowing it. They are suffering from the strawberry disease, the symptoms of which are slight dizziness, a desire to be alone and intolerance of being questioned.

The strawberries which have the worst effect are the large, mashy ones. The small kinds, with seeds on the surface, are usually harmless. The trouble is ascribed to the strawberry acids, which cream does not mollify. Indeed, the fruit is more wholesome without cream or sugar. and nobody should eat more than a dozen at a time Eustace Miles, the tennis player, as a vegetarian dietist confirms the danger some persons from strawberries. He says they contain three acids, phosphoric, sulphuric and silicic. He believes that the last named causes the trouble. In addition to irritability sufferers have strawberry rash and strawberry headache.

VICTORY FOR CARL PETERS. Munich Court Defends His Brutalities Africa-Editor Fined.

MUNICH, July 2.- The libel suit of Carl Peters, late Governor of German East Africa, who sued the Munich Post for repeating statements made in the Reichstag relative to alleged murder of and cruelties to the natives, came to an end to-day with judgment against the Post.

Peters was stormily congratulated by his friends on the conclusion of the trial. Herr Gruber, the editor of the Post was sentenced to pay a fine of $125 with the alternative of fifty days imprisonment and to pay the whole cost of the proceedings. In rendering judgment the Court said that Peters while in Africa had acted in accordance with what he believed to be his rights as Imperial Commissioner and carnal motives played no part in his sentences and executions. It had been clear, the Court further said, that perjury had been committed, notably by either Dr. Arendt or Frau Keyser, during the hearing. Hence further proceedings in a criminal court were certain.

Probably more than one duel will result from the testimony given in the case.

An explosion followed the finding of the body of a man who committed suicide by gas in a furnished room house at 236 West Fiftieth street last night and four persons were seriously burned. It was thought at first that the man had been burned to death and the police borrowed an automobile at a nearby garage and took the body to Roosevelt Hospital. In the meantime those who really needed medical attendance were in the house waiting for an ambulance One had beem summoned, but the order was countermanded by the police, who did not know of the burned persons.

It was half an hour before another arrived. The dead man is supposed to be, according to letters found, H. C. Murden, a printer employed on the New York American. The injured are Mrs. Margaret Lyman, who kept the house; her grandchild, Richard Clayton, 3 years old; Michel Lyman, a grown son, and Joseph Riley, who roomed in the house.

Policeman Duncan Chisholm summoned an ambulance, but when the body was taken away in the auto asked that it not be sent. Upon going through the house later he came across the injured persons in Mrs. Lyman's rooms. They were all taken to Roosevelt Hospital. Mrs. Lyman was the most seriously burned. Her injuries were about the face and head, and she suffered the loss of her hair. The child was burned about the right side of its face. Riley was burned about the hands and arms, and Lyman about the neck and chest. According to Mrs. Lyman, Murden came

He was accompanied by a woman who, he said, was his wife. Another woman called at the house yesterday afternoon and said that she was Murden's legal wife and wanted to see him. When Murden came in about 5 o'clock in the afternoon the housekeeper told him about it. That was the last seen of him up to the time of the explosion. Murden's body was found stripped. Both gas burners in the room were turned wide open and a long rubber tube connecting with one was on the floor just below the dead man's head. There was a letter on the bureau addressed to Thomas Hartrey, 538-A Monroe street, Brooklyn. All the letters in the dead man's effects were addressed to Murden and had been opened. Murden, she said, told her that he was employed in the proofroom of the American and that he had formerly lived at 538A Monroe street. A telephone message from the office of the American said that Murden had formerly been employed in the composing room, but had not worked there lately.

GLORIOUS FOURTH IN LONDON. Ambassador Reid Limits His Reception -Too Many Diners, Too.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.
LONDON, July 2.—The Independence Day celebration here this year will eclipse that of any previous year in numbers if in nothing else. Ambassador Reid was obliged some days ago to announce through the newspapers that there were so many applications by Americans for invitations to his reception at Dorchester House that foreigners necessarily would be excluded.

He found it impossible to reply to the flood Ball Refused for Ex-Mayor Ferroul -Hold of applications, and he now announces that admission will be granted only to those presenting cards of invitation. The same conditions prevail regarding the banquet that will be given at the Hotel Cecil in the evening, at which Mr. Reid will preside.

Mark Twain will be among the chief speakers. The diners will be limited to the capacity of the hall, which is about 450. The application for tickets greatly exceed

TWAIN SEES HOUSE OF COMMONS. Finds Improvement in English Gift of

Speech-Cheap Atlantic Mails. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, July 2 - Mark Twain, ciceroned by John Henneker Heaton, Member of Parliament for Canterbury and leader of the movement for the institution of penny postage" between Great Britain and the United States, visited the House of Commons to-day and inspected various places of interest

Afterward he took luncheon with Mr. Heaton and Postmaster-General Buxton, with the latter of whom he had a long consultation on the subject of Anglo-American penny postage

Mr Clemens told the correspondent of THE SUN that the luncheon at the House of Commons had afforded him an opportunity for getting on friendly terms with the Postmaster-General, and like a true diplomatist he would employ this friendliness in furtherance of the postage scheme. He

"I told Mr. Buxton stories and he liked them. He told me stories and I liked them, appreciating their points and laughing at the proper time. No diplomatist could have made a better beginning. The affair was thoroughly delightful, being entirely stag and the necessity for the repression of the human language, which has hitherto confronted me, not being present. My impression that Englishmen had an exaggerated sense of decency in speech is somewhat modified now, and I believe that under proper environment an Englishman can employ real human talk the use of which I thought was entirely confined to the United States." A dinner in Mr. Clemens s honor was given to-night by Harry Brittain and wife of the Savoy company. It was marked by the reappearance in society of Lord Curzon, whose vis-à-vis was Marie Corelli. Among others attending were Sir Edwin Ray Lankester, Lady Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Hope, Major-General Hutchinson, the Earl of Malmesbury, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Depew, Lady Llangatock, Sir Robert Harvey and Arthur Lee and wife.

GRAPE-NUTS. 與可以而與兩個的的學術學學學學學學學的可以

Can you use a Strong. Sturdy Set of BRAINS? Grape-Nuts

"I don't believe you can arrange food so that it will go to rebuild and nourish the brain. Grape-Nuts is a most delightful tasting food, but I can't understand how you expect any certain food to be appropriated by any certain part of the body A good earnest skeptic and well worth

Actual results are better than any theory pro and con. Grape-Nuts food is being eaten by millions of people all over the world and any interested person can satisfy himself by questioning his neighbor as to the result of the use of Grape-Nuts. The testimony is given over and over that after 10 days' use there comes a feeling of strength, sturdiness, clearness of intellect and power of the mind that is unmistakable.

"There a Reason." Thinking uses up each day parts of the filling of the cells in brain, and Nature demands albumen and natural phosphate of potash (not from the drug store) to make ew the soft jelly-like substance (gray matter) which is used as the filling of these brain cells.

Grape-Nuts contains these elements direct from Mother Nature and prepared in the form of a most delicious and dainty food, practically pre-digested and quickly absorbed into the system. The hard stubborn facts are that Grape-Nuts does build brains. Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

AMERICAN STUDENTS MOBBED. Roughs Attack Youths Studying for the Priesthood in Rome.

pecial Cable Despatch to THE SUN Royn, July 2.-Twelve students for the priesthood at the College of the Propaganda Fide, including William Demury of Mobile, were mobbed yesterday on the Piazza Spagna by toughs who were elated by the recent victory of the anti-Clericals in the municipal elections

The students were beaten, kicked and spat upon. They complained to their respective Ambassadors, namely, the American British, German, Austrian and Turkish, who it is expected will send a joint note to Signor Tittoni, Minister of Foreign Affairs, asking that precautions be taken in the future and pointing out the great number of foreign clergy and
